LIBERTY DAY IS TOMORROW, BUT SCHOOLS AND STORES WILL NOT CLOSE; DAY IS LEGAL HOLIDAY

By official proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson, tomorrow is Liberty day throughout the United States. The city and county offices will be closed after noon and there will probably be other offices of the city close in honor of the day. The schools will remain open but there will be patriotic exercises to emphasize the significance of the day to the students.

A majority of the merchants of the city were in favor of closing tomorrow, but a few held out against such a move, and as a result all stores will remain open all day. President Wilson in his proclamation calls attention to the prime purpose of the event by declaring it should be the day when the people of the United States should assemble in their respective communities and liberally pledge anew their financial support to sustain the nation's cause.

At the court house tomorrow Judge Agee's court will be open in the morning for the setting of cases. Judge Pratt's court will be open in the afternoon for setting of cases but a brief session only will be held. The municipal court will convene at the usual hour.

President Wilson's full proclamation in regard to Liberty Day follows:

An enemy who has grossly abused the power of organized government and who seeks to dominate the world by the might of the sword, challenges the rights of America to its liberty and life of all the free nations of the earth. Our brave sons are facing the fire of battle in defense of the honor and rights of America and the liberty of nations. To sustain them and to assist our gallant associates in the war, a generous and patriotic people have been called upon to subscribe to the third Liberty loan.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do appoint Friday, the 26th day of April, 1918, as Liberty Day. On the afternoon of that day I request the people of the United States to assemble in their respective communities and liberally pledge anew their financial support to sustain the nation's cause. Patriotic demonstrations should be held in every city, town and hamlet throughout the land under the general direction of the secretary of the treasury and the immediate direction of the Liberty loan committee organized by the federal reserve banks. Let the nation's response to the third Liberty loan express in unmistakable terms the determination of America to fight for peace, the permanent peace of justice.

For the purpose of participating in Liberty day celebrations, all employees of the federal government throughout the country whose services can be spared may be excused at 12 o'clock noon, Friday, the 26th day of April.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done in the District of Columbia this 18th day of April, in the year of our Lord, 1918, and of the independence of the United States of America the 142d.

Acting Governor Harden Bennion has issued an appeal that all Utahns join in the observation of Liberty day, in his appeal he calls attention to the fact that more than 10,000 of Utah's sons are in the fighting forces.

SHEEPHERDER LATE IN ANSWERING CALL Emanuel Urearte, a Spanish shepherd, came to the local exemption board's office today and registered and filled out a questionnaire. He has been "out in the hills with the sheep" and could not come sooner.

Urearte stated in his questionnaire that he did not want to return to Spain to bear arms and was unwilling to bear arms for this country.

Pred Smith was examined today and placed in the class subject to general military service.

DRILLING FOR GAS AT CORNER OF 32ND ST. AND WYOMING AVE.

That the city of Ogden overlies a vast field of natural gas is the belief of a group of local men and a number of Salt Lake men who have organized to exploit such resources. The first act of the group of men was the formation of a company known as the Mutual Oil & Gas company of Utah. Active operation began yesterday in the southeastern part of the city where a drilling rig has been erected and the actual drilling for gas was begun. A representative of The Standard was at the scene during the afternoon and a depth of 15 feet had been drilled by the machine at 5 o'clock.

The impelling fact in the formation of the company and the commencement of active operations is the demand for the product as the first consideration, but the belief that gas can be found in a paying quantity is the result of the fact that it was found in the same vicinity in small quantity over 30 years ago by Charles Woodmansee when he drove a well down 150 feet and struck sufficient gas to furnish his home with illumination. The matter has been under investigation for some time and an expert on gas has examined the local field. The expert has reported favorably on the formations found and the general topography of the surrounding country as indicative of a natural gas repository beneath the city.

The principal men in the company are Dr. J. W. Paddock of Ogden, president of the company; T. L. Livsey, vice president and general manager, and John P. Martin, secretary-treasurer. A number of wealthy men are financially interested in the venture, some of them from Salt Lake and some from Ogden.

The rig on the premises is one of the Keystone variety, which has a capacity of drilling to a depth of 1500 feet. The expert has stated that gas should be found at a depth of less than 1000 feet and that the flow of gas, when the main body is tapped, should be from 1,000,000 to 5,000,000 feet a day.

The drilling is in progress at Thirty-second street and Wyoming avenue.

YOUNG MAN FINDS HIMSELF IN A TIGHT PLACE

Fred Nicholson, the young man who was arrested yesterday morning at the Union station on a charge of drunkenness and fined $50 in the municipal court by Judge George S. Barker, appealed to the city commission this morning to have the fine remitted, although he had plenty of money on his person with which to pay the fine, according to the statement of the police department.

The city commission declined to act in the matter and now the police are holding the young man pending investigation into his claim that he is only 20 years of age. In court yesterday morning the defendant stated that he was 20 years of age, but his appearance indicates several years more than that.

En Route From California. Nicholson stated that he was en route from California, where he spent the winter, to his home in Millard county, this state, when arrested. He told of having property and an automobile in storage in a garage, evidently believing that his inventory of wealth would assist the court in finding a measure of punishment that would leave out the fine. If he had such a notion, he was disappointed when the judge suddenly cut him off and imposed the fine with the alternative of 30 days in the jail.

The young man did not pay the fine, but retained counsel and appealed to the city commission this morning to be excused from paying the fine or serving the sentence.

Barker Denies Plea. The city commission asked with the attorney for the prisoner that if Judge Barker would recommend leniency it would take some action. Judge Barker notified the commission that he could not recommend any leniency in the case, as it was a flagrant violation of the prohibition law and one of the kind of cases he had announced only the day before would be dealt with severely, although he had imposed only the minimum sentence.

Assistant City Attorney David L. Stine also added his belief that the defendant was not entitled to consideration. The young man then decided to part with some of the money he had on his person when arrested and of partment had decided not to turn him loose until an investigation could be made as to his standing in respect to the draft.

SOLICITOR IS BROUGHT BEFORE MUNICIPAL COURT

T. J. Mohn, a solicitor for a Los Angeles picture concern, appeared before the municipal court this morning on a charge of soliciting without a license. He entered a plea of not guilty to the charge, although admitting that he is "working" the town for the purpose of securing business for his firm. Mohn claimed that his method of procedure was within the protection of the interstate commerce law and that the local courts would find that they could not touch him.

The defendant explained from the witness stand how his business is worked. Assistant City Attorney David L. Stine, while stating to the court that some of the municipal courts of the country had been prevented from enforcing certain ordinances by virtue of the operation of the federal law, claimed that the admissions of Mohn brought his case within the city ordinance and that the ordinance was valid.

Case Under Adjudication.

Judge George S. Barker decided to be sure of his ground and took the matter under advisement until tomorrow morning in order to have time to look into all phases of the case. The city ordinance is on trial in the matter as much as the defendant, and the city authorities are eager to uphold the city law.

Women Make Complaints.

Mohn was arrested as the result of a call from a number of housewives on Twenty-eighth street last Tuesday, who complained to the police that an agent was working along the street and forcing his way into the houses and making himself generally obnoxious. The police state that Mohn, who is district manager for his firm, discharged the man, when he heard the facts. The police then asked to see his license permit for taking orders in the city and were met with the answer that he was not taking orders.

Mohn explained to the court that he is the district manager for the firm and that he has a crew of five men working here. The crew is only a part of the force that is required to take the orders and deliver the goods. He says they have three crews in the field before the orders are delivered, his crew being the first. In about two weeks, he says, another crew follows along and shows the sketch that is made as an enlargement of the original photograph and, if the customer is satisfied, he can give an order. In the interval between the appearance of the first and second crews, the photograph is sent to Los Angeles by him where the sketch is made. It is sent from the headquarters to the manager of the second crew who presents it and takes the order—if he can. All persons familiar with the methods of taking such orders are aware that various kinds of persuasion are used to coax a party to give an order.

After the second crew has presented the sketch—"for approval"—the third crew follows in due time and makes the delivery. As to who collects the money was not shown by the testimony, but the usual method of such agents is to collect the money at the delivery.

Method a Clever Subterfuge. Attorney Stine told the court that he was satisfied that the method employed was only a clever subterfuge to avoid the law, but that he did not believe it to be under the protection of the interstate commerce act.

Mohn, on the other hand, was emphatic in his stand that it was entirely within the protection of the interstate law and even went so far as to state that the Salt Lake municipal court had found that nothing could be done to prevent him working the city.

He said, as he sat in the witness chair, "Our headquarters is in Los Angeles and not in this state, so we can go through any state in the union, except California, and transact our business and you, gentlemen, cannot stop us." Judge Barker would not commit himself this morning, but said that he was inclined to believe the case came properly under the jurisdiction of the city court.
